COMPANY UPDATE

Rating: BUY

Ticker: CING

Price: $3.66

Target: $61
(from $60)

Reports Q1: Cingulate recently (on May 8) reported its Q1 2025 (ending March) results. Net loss was $3.8 million or EPS of $(1.04) compared with our estimates of $(1.00) and consensus of $(1.01). There was no guidance. Cingulate is a clinical stage drug development company so it has no revenue.

No guidance: Management did not provide forward guidance.

Adjusting estimates: We are adjusting our 2025 EPS estimate to $(3.67) from $(3.84).

Reports positive CTx-1301 trial data: In July 2023, the company reported positive Topline results that demonstrated a positive effect in subjects that received CTx-1301 versus subjects that received placebo. In March 2024, the company announced positive safety data from its two Phase 3 pediatric and adolescent studies – a fixed dose study and a dose optimization study – as well as a food effect study. The company just released (May 2025) positive efficacy results from its pediatrics study for CTx-1301.

Positive FDA meeting: In April, the company had a Pre-NDA meeting with the U.S. FDA to discuss the submission of a new drug application (NDA) for its lead Phase 3 asset CTx-1301. The meeting (along with the received formal pre-NDA meeting minutes) was very productive, and the company remains on track for an NDA filing of CTx-1301 in mid-2025.

Focused on ADHD: The company's initial focus is on the treatment of Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD). The company is developing two proprietary first-line stimulant medications, CTx-1301 and CTx-1302, for the treatment of ADHD for all patient segments. The company also has a third product to treat anxiety, CTx-2103, in a formulation (preclinical trials) stage.

Precision Timed Release (PTR): The underlying medicines in CTx-1301 (dexamethylphenidate) and CTx-1302 (dextroamphetamine) are well established approved drugs for ADHD, but the differentiation in Cingulate's new drugs is their usage of its Precision Timed Release (PTR) drug delivery platform. CTx-1301 and CTx-1302 utilize a flexible core tableting technology designed to allow for the release of drug substance at specific, pre-defined time intervals, unlocking the potential for once-daily, multi-dose tablets.

CTx-1301: Cingulate plans to submit the NDA (new drug application) to the FDA for CTx-1301 in mid-2025 with potential approval and commercialization in late 2025 or early 2026.

CTx-1302: The company plans to file an IND with the FDA in 2025 and initiate a Phase 1/2 bioavailability study for CTx-1302 in ADHD patients in 2025/26.

Large market potential: ADHD is a chronic neurobehavioral and developmental disorder that affects millions of children, adolescents and adults. In the U.S., ~6.4 million, or 11%, of children and adolescents aged 4-17 have been diagnosed with ADHD. Adult ADHD prevalence in the U.S. is estimated at ~11 million patients, or 4.4%, of the population. Total ADHD medication sales in the U.S have grown ~8% each year since 2010 and reaching ~$18 billion in 2020.

NDA can be catalyst: Cingulate anticipates filing a NDA in mid-2025 and we believe this will likely be strong positive catalysts for the stock.

Balance sheet: As of Q1, the company has $10 million in cash and $5 million in debt. We believe the company has enough cash into 2026.

Current valuation very attractive: We are maintaining our BUY rating, but raising our 12-month price target to $61 from $60 based on a NPV analysis. This represents significant upside from the current share price and we believe appropriately balances out the high risks with large upside opportunities.

Non-Dilutive Funding to Accelerate Development of CTx-2103 (buspirone)

KANSAS CITY, Kan., May 08, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) – Cingulate Inc. (NASDAQ: CING), a biopharmaceutical company utilizing its proprietary Precision Timed Release™ (PTR™) drug delivery platform technology to build and advance a pipeline of next-generation pharmaceutical products, today announced its financial results for the quarter ended March 31, 2025, and provided a clinical and business update. Highlights include the completion of the Pre-NDA meeting for CTx-1301 and grant received to accelerate development of CTx-2103.

“The first quarter of 2025 has been a very constructive one for Cingulate,” stated Chairman and CEO Shane J. Schaffer. “We held a productive meeting with the FDA last month and remain on target to file an NDA in the middle of the year for our lead ADHD asset CTx-1301. The results announced from a food effect study of 50mg CTx-1301 – our largest dose – were positive and consistent with previous fed/fast data (25mg CTx-1301). We were also pleased to receive a $3 million grant of non-dilutive funding for the development of CTx-2103 for the treatment of anxiety, advancing our pipeline and illustrating the applicability of Cingulate’s PTR™ platform.”

Cingulate Completes Pre-NDA Meeting with FDA to Discuss New Drug Application (NDA) for lead ADHD Asset CTx-1301 and Remains on Track to Submit the NDA Mid-2025 and Provides additional Clinical Updates

On April 2, 2025, Cingulate completed its Pre-NDA meeting with the FDA to discuss the submission of an NDA for CTx-1301, its lead asset for the treatment of ADHD. This important milestone keeps Cingulate on track for a mid-2025 submission of the NDA for CTx-1301.

In March 2025, Cingulate released Phase 3 safety data for CTx-1301, showing that the safety profile of CTx-1301 has remained consistent over the course of nine clinical trials.

In late April 2025, Cingulate reported that the primary endpoint of the 50mg food effect study demonstrated that CTx-1301 can be taken with or without food.
